

cdlancer Receives Two Best African Business Awards

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE.

YAOUNDE, 23 MARCH 2021 – cdlancer, a translation company based in Yaoundé, Central Africa, features among the winners of the 2020 MEA Awards. In a recent official announcement, cdlancer has been awarded both the Best Business Translation & Interpretation Consultancy – Central Africa and Small Business Innovation Excellence Award – Central Africa distinctions.

An African Business Award Like No Other

According to the Award organisers, the MEA Platform looks to “reveal industry leaders from the varied industries, markets and sectors from across the continent”, considering that “Africa is home to a plethora of businesses that contribute to their respective countries’ GDP growth.” Being a winner of these awards is a great achievement for any African business owner, and cdlancer Founder, Carlos Djomo, is no exception. “It is such an honour to be an MEA African Business Excellence Award winner and I avail myself of this opportunity to thank all cdlancer collaborators, partners and consultants”, he said.

Translation Excellence in Africa and Beyond

Since inception in 2015, cdlancer has been thriving to lead the way to translation excellence. From hosting the Open Translation Day to providing translator capacity-building opportunities, and sharing industry news, the business is both client and translator-friendly. In a fast-changing industry, these awards are a confirmation of cdlancer’s innovative approaches to translation excellence, most especially amid the world health context due to the COVID-19 pandemic.
